Introducing Torahlife Ministries, Inc...

Torahlife Ministries, Inc. is an innovative, creative, cutting edge 501(c)(3) religious organization. It exists to educate and Jew and non-Jew, in the understanding of the Messiah. Our services focus is on the scriptures of the Tanakh (“Old-Testament”) and the Brit Hadashah (“New Testament”), Jewish, Church, and World histories, printed materials, books, Internet, and media. Established in 2015, our organization has successfully provided spiritual fulfillment to hundreds of individuals across the globe. It has proven to be a leader in responding to the needs of under-served members of our community. Supporting the development of spiritual knowledge and personal growth, Torahlife Ministries, Inc. provides many individuals with a thorough foundation for future success.

Since inception, our organization has demonstrated our commitment through fervent fundraising to support our religious programming. We have been blessed to have generated adequate revenue to provide high quality educational videos and digital newsletters on a weekly basis. Our services are overseen by a group of well-qualified individuals. Our diverse staff members have ties to the community, and thus possess the unique ability to relate to the target demographic. Additionally, our Board of Directors is comprised of a professional group of talented individuals who are dedicated to committing their time and resources to building a stronger community.

Torahlife Ministries, Inc. strives to serve as many people as possible with the resources we have available – every individual is important to our organization and we will not discriminate against anyone. By offering services that are concentrated on serving those less fortunate and addressing the greatest needs of our target community, we can make a positive contribution in helping the people we work with lead a more fulfilling life.

The Need

Across the United States, a recognizable need has developed for the provision of outreach services for individuals and families. While the obstacles that must be faced by residents can be seen as immeasurable, some of the most pressing issues facing individuals today are the high rates of unemployment, poverty, lack of emphasis on education, family dysfunction, and a shortage of programs for the low income population. When policymakers consider America's grave social problems, including violent crime, rising illegitimacy, substance abuse, and welfare dependency, they should heed the findings in the professional literature of the social sciences on the positive consequences that flow from the practice of religion.

For example, there is ample evidence that:

- The strength of the family unit is intertwined with the practice of religion. Religious service participants are more likely to be married, less likely to be divorced or single, and more likely to manifest high levels of satisfaction in marriage.
- Service attendance is the most important predictor of marital stability and happiness.
- The regular practice of religion helps poor persons move out of poverty. Regular participant attendance, for example, is particularly instrumental in helping young people to escape the poverty of inner-city life.
- Religious belief and practice contribute substantially to the formation of personal moral criteria and sound moral judgment.
- Regular religious practice generally inoculates individuals against a host of social problems, including suicide, drug abuse, out-of-wedlock births, crime, and divorce.
- The regular practice of religion also encourages such beneficial effects on mental health as less depression (a modern epidemic), more self-esteem, and greater family and marital happiness.
- In repairing damage caused by alcoholism, drug addiction, and marital breakdown, religious belief and practice are a major source of strength and recovery.
- Regular practice of religion is good for personal physical health: It increases longevity, improves one's chances of recovery from illness, and lessens the incidence of many killer diseases.

Torahlife Ministries, Inc.'s Solution

In an effort to fulfill our mission, Torahlife Ministries, Inc. has developed an online religious teaching program named Simchat Torah Institute. This program was designed specifically to assist pastors and home study groups with accessing an efficient and engaging platform when studying the Bible from a Jewish context. Our aspirations for this program are to cultivate and guide the mind of the participants to remain strong in their lifestyle and culture, while following Yeshua as He is revealed in the Brit Hadashah. Our team of volunteers accomplishes our objectives by creating and uploading weekly educational videos and informative PowerPoint presentations that can be accessed by interested individuals at no cost.

As technology is becoming such a powerful tool in today's society, our administrators will continue to take advantage of these communication opportunities and utilize it to help our organization connect with audience members in distant locations. Our Simchat Torah Institute proudly reaches over fifty individuals that currently reside in two countries and in states throughout the U.S.

We are working on a customized teaching curriculum to fulfill the needs of individual pastors and leaders such as a two page "Bible Bites" on different subjects.

Torahlife Ministries, Inc.'s administrators will continue to practice strong financial stewardship in order to maintain our free teaching newsletter named The Scribes Journal. This weekly digital journal takes the Torah portion taught in every Jewish synagogue and places the Brit Hadashah (New Testament) in it, thereby completing the connection. We have been fortunate to spread the mission of The Scribes Journal to residents in all fifty states and to nine countries across the Globe.

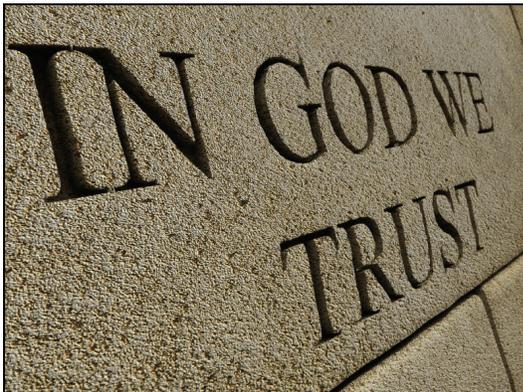

Torahlife Ministries, Inc.'s Solution

Torahlife Ministries, Inc. is also dedicated to improving the lives and outlooks of those incarcerated within our state prisons and jails. Our dedicated and compassionate volunteers spend time traveling to local correctional institutions each week to conduct our religious and educational programming. Our knowledgeable Messianic Bible teachers spend their visit time presenting the basics of the Bible from the Messianic Foundation. Our organization firmly believes that these group sessions equip prisoners with practical tools to overcome their challenges and successfully achieve true freedom upon release. Our instructors also provide participants with access to printed and/or emailed versions of The Scribe Journals to read during their personal time throughout the week.

Torahlife Ministries, Inc. is also seeking the support required to implement a weekly radio program that is geared towards community members interested in increasing their knowledge of the Messianic Bible based Movement and the teaching of the Torah portion as followed by the Scribe's Journal. In order to operate this program in the most efficient manner possible, our directors plan to purchase the equipment necessary to operate an online radio program that will broadcast worldwide in one hour increments. Our radio program will be available to listeners across the globe at no cost via online streaming.

Torahlife Ministries, Inc. aspires to reach the disenfranchised people of God who have given up on their believing communities with the teaching of the COMPLETE Word of God. Our programs will target those individuals who desire to dive deeper into the Bible with the resources we are able to provide.
